FOR FIRE EQUIPMENT

CITY TRUSTEES PASS RESOLUTION CALLING FOR PUMP-ING ENGINE

At the adjourned meeting of the Board of Trustees held Wednesday night there were present Trustees Charles Grist, A. W. Tower, George Williams and O. A. Lane, president of the board. There were also present T. W. Watson, city manager, and J. C. Sherer, city clerk.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read by the city clerk and approved. The board then took up the matter presented at last meeting by City Manager Watson with reference to the purchase of additional fire equipment for the city. Mr. Watson's recommendation was that one motor-driven fire truck equipped with a pump of one thousand gallons capacity, and other necessary equipment be purchased for the sum of $10,200; 2000 feet of fire hose, $1900; one hydraulic jack, $100; other equipment for volunteer firemen and emergency hospital, $800. The total cost of this apparatus would be $13,000.

Mr. Watson stated that this equipment was greatly needed at this time and recommended that the proposition for the voting of bonds for the necessary amount be placed before the public at an early date.

A resolution was then adopted declaring that the public interest and necessity demand the acquisition of certain equipment, the cost of which would be greater than could be paid out of the ordinary annual income and revenue. It was therefore resolved that fire-fighting apparatus and equipment, including an automobile pumping engine, hose and other equipment, be purchased at the estimated cost of $13,000.

The city clerk was instructed to attest this resolution, certifying its adoption by a two-thirds vote.

At the next regular meeting the board will pass another resolution calling for an election to sanction the bond issue.

YOUNG MUSICIANS TO PERFORM

The pupils of Mrs. Vivian R. Webb will give a recital at Mrs. Webb's studio Saturday, Sept. 25, at 3 o'clock, to which the parents and friends of the young performers are invited. The following program has been arranged for this recital:

Duets—"Maiden, Wherefore Weepst Thou?" (folk song); Alexander March, Kathleen Woods and Marie Hearnshaw.

Airy Fairies (Spalding), Frances Cline.

Song—"The Gingerbread Man" (Gaynor), Marie Hearnshaw; Elizabeth Webb, accompanist.

AT THE KALEM STUDIO

Things are moving at a lively pace at the Kalem Moving Picture company's studio just now. Mr. Horne is busy on a 12-act production, "The Stingaree." This week Mr. Horne's company is working on the act, "The Enemy of Mankind." Mr. Boardman is the leading man in this production. Mr. Davis is working on his new picture, "The Tramp Telegrapher."

REAGAN IN GLENDALE

LOS ANGELES ENGINEER IS PLEASED WITH FLOOD CONTROL WORK

J. W. Reagan of Los Angeles, who was recently appointed engineer of the Los Angeles county flood control district, visited Glendale Thursday forenoon, and in company with City Manager T. W. Watson, Assistant City Engineer William Althouse and others inspected the conditions of the Verdugo Wash. Engineer Reagan reported to a representative of the Glendale Evening News that he is greatly pleased with the work that is being done in the Glendale Heights district. It is his opinion that the improvement is of a very substantial character and is just what is needed to protect the property owners from the overflow of the water in time of floods. He examined very closely as to the improvements needed within the city limits of Glendale, and concluded that there is cause for prompt action on the part of the board of supervisors and the city of Glendale. Engineer Reagan will report to the board of supervisors, under whose direction he works, that steps should be taken at once to so improve the condition of the wash that the citizens of Glendale and of this section of the San Fernando Valley shall be in a state of safety when the rainy season visits us.

Mr. Reagan seems to have characteristics that well fit him to fill the position to which he has been elected. He carried away with him today Kodak pictures of the improvements being made in the wash in Glendale Heights, and it is his intention to use them as a convincing argument as to what may be done to better conditions in the flooded districts.

MEETING OF P. E. O.

Chapter L of the P. E. O. Sisterhood met at the home of Mrs. A. L. Bryant, 421 South Jackson street. There was a large attendance of this interesting sorority, as this was the first meeting of the new season. The proceedings took the form of an all-day session. The handsome rooms of the Bryant residence were beautifully decorated. The living room and the hall were tastefully adorned with a profusion of pink lilies and ferns. The dining room and the library were appropriately decked out with festoons of autumn leaves, the varied tints of the foliage giving a most seasonal appearance to the rooms.

Mrs. Bryant, the hostess, received her numerous guests with that hospitality and affability for which she is noted and the tone of the gathering was in full consonance with the spirit of the order. The entertainment was given in honor of Mrs. Frances Walton of Crescent City, a charter member, and also of Mrs. McFadden, who is moving to Bishop, Inyo county.

After a brief business meeting the society repaired to the dining room where they partook of a dainty luncheon. Mrs. McFadden was presented with a pin, as the usual custom when a member leaves for other parts.

Mrs. Frances Walton was called on for a speech. She responded in a witty and diverting address, in the course of which she noted the wonderful growth of the sisterhood in Glendale and expressed her pleasure at being in the midst of her companions of the past once more. The proceedings closed with a very pleasing musical program.

MARRIES EARLY AND LATE

Cupid has a strong ally in Rev. W. E. Edmonds of the Presbyterian church, who is rapidly making a reputation for himself among young couples who wish to be married, as being willing to perform this service at any hour of the day or night. Early Sunday morning Rev. Edmonds made a young couple happy, and Wednesday night he was awakened from his slumbers at 11 o'clock by a party from Los Angeles who required his services. Mr. Burton Shiner and Miss Edith Allen, with some friends, left Los Angeles expecting to reach the manse at 9:30 last night, but were delayed by a breakdown, with the result that the ceremony was delayed until a late hour.

TO APPRAISE W. T. FRYE DAMAGE

GERMANY SUGGESTS EXPERTS TO VALUE AMERICAN SHIP AND CARGO AND FIX AMOUNT TO BE PAID

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Sept. 23.—Germany's new note with regard to the sinking of the American merchantman, W. T. Frye, by a German cruiser, was made public today. It names a German expert to fix the amount of damages to be paid and invites the American administration to name an American expert. If the two experts should not agree Germany suggests that the matter be submitted to arbitration. The note denies that the Prussian-American treaty was violated by the sinking of the W. T. Frye.

Imperial Chancellor von Jagow states that German submarines have been ordered not to sink American merchantmen even when they are carrying contraband. This is held here as "evidence of Germany's conciliatory attitude."

BRITISH PRIME MINISTER DENIES IN HOUSE OF COMMONS REPORT OF BREAK IN COUNCIL

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, Sept. 23.—In a powerful address to the house of commons today, in which he urged unity and singleness of aim and action on all parties in the country, Premier Asquith denied rumors to the effect that important cabinet changes were contemplated by the government. The cabinet he said was united on all questions concerning the country's welfare.

AMERICAN OFFICIAL HAS NARROW ESCAPE

CONSUL HIGGINS OF STUTTGART WOUNDED BY FRAGMENT OF SHELL IN CONSULATE

WASHINGTON, Sept. 23.—During a recent French air raid on Stuttgart, Germany, the American consulate was hit by a bomb, which did some damage. A fragment of the shell hit American Consul Higgins. The wound is not serious, but the consul and the other occupants of the building had narrow escapes from death.

GENERAL RHYS-PRICE KILLED

FAMOUS SOLDIER OF FORTUNE GOES DOWN IN BAYONET CHARGE IN FRANCE

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 23.—Gen. C. Rhys-Price, the noted soldier of fortune, who was not very long ago on trial in this city for violating the neutrality of the United States by fomenting rebellion in Lower California, and who was well known throughout California, was killed in the great war, it is announced today. Gen. Rhys-Price joined the French and in the great battle with the Germans at Neuchatel, last March, was killed while leading his men in a successful bayonet charge against the Germans.

CZAR FERDINAND CALLS RECRUITS OF TWENTY-SEVEN CLASSES TO THE COLORS

ATHENS, Sept. 23.—Czar Ferdinand of Bulgaria issued today a new mobilization order, calling to the colors twenty-seven different classes of recruits. The country is in a state of great excitement. No one knows yet what Ferdinand plans.

SUMMER PLAY REPORT

PRINCIPAL R. D. WHITE GIVES STATISTICS OF GLENDALE VACATION PLAYGROUNDS

At the recent meeting of the Glendale Federation of Parent-Teacher associations Principal R. D. White presented a report of the playground committee of which Dr. E. H. Willisford was chairman and Mr. White secretary. The report stated that at a meeting held June 12 the playground committee decided to open three playgrounds, one at the Pacific avenue school, one at the Central avenue school and one at the High school; to maintain these playgrounds during the months of July and August; to employ competent directors for the playgrounds; to ask the trustees of the city of Glendale to pay $150 toward the salaries of these directors, and the high and the grammar school trustees to furnish the rest; that applications for playground directors' positions would be received by the secretary and held for the committee.

In accordance with the policy above outlined, the committee waited upon the city trustees and the high and grammar school trustees and asked for contributions to the playground directors' salary fund. The city trustees appropriated for the purpose the sum of $150 and the grammar school trustees a like sum. The high school trustees stated that because the school is a union high school they did not feel that they could legally appropriate its funds for playground purposes.

The committee held another meeting on June 24. At that meeting R. D. White was elected supervising principal of the playgrounds for the summer of 1915, to serve without compensation.

The committee decided that the money appropriated by the city trustees and the school district should be divided equally among the three playgrounds and should constitute a salary fund, and should be placed on deposit in the First National Bank of Glendale and drawn on by check signed by the chairman and secretary of this committee; that each community in which a playground is located be asked to raise a further sum of $50 for playground equipment and supplies; that the playgrounds would be kept open from 8:30 to 11:30 a.m. and from 2 to 6 p.m.

Pursuant to these plans the playgrounds were opened with a joint celebration at the high school grounds on July 4, and were kept open every day except Sundays up to and including the 31st of August.

At the high school grounds the Parent-Teacher associations co-operating in its maintenance put in a slide (borrowed from the Colorado boulevard school), a swing, a sand box, handball and volley ball courts, a table for marbles and jacks for small children.

At the Central avenue school only the playground equipment of the school was used.

At the Pacific avenue school, in addition to the regular school equipment, the Parent-Teacher association put in a tennis court, a basketball court, a grandstand, a maypole and a merry-go-round.

Junior and senior baseball leagues were organized among the three playgrounds and several series of games played. In addition to this, junior and senior tennis tournaments were held at the high school playground. Prizes were offered for the tennis tournament by Cornwell & Kelly, Roberts & Echols, H. H. Faries and the Glendale Paint and Paper Co.

At the high school grounds a checker tournament was held, for which prizes were offered by H. H. Faries.

HOBO SEASON OPEN

CHIEF OF POLICE WANTS PUBLIC TO CO-OPERATE IN SUPPRESSING VAGRANCY

Glendale's efficient police department is making the usual fall campaign against hoboes and vagrants of all sorts. This campaign will be vigorously prosecuted and only needs the co-operation of the citizens to make it a success.

"We are daily and nightly making a campaign against the hobo and vagrant who is as annual and annoying a pest as the tomato worm or the locust," said Chief Herald today. "In fact, we have as much trouble cleaning the city of its parasites as the farmer, horticulturist or arboriculturist has to combat the different kinds of scale and other pests that infest the trees and crops.

"This is not an easy matter. The hobo annually migrates to Southern California as winter approaches. He finds it all very well in the good, old summer time to wander through the Middle West or to meander through Oregon or Washington; but when winter begins to approach he seeks the sunny fields of California, where it is possible to sleep in an outhouse or even on the ground without freezing to death.

"This season is seeing a repetition of the old immigration. The advance guard of the great army is already skirmishing about, examining the ground, sounding the enemy (that is the police), seeing what kind of a disposition the chief has and what kind of officers are in the town. All this is carefully reported to the main army, and according to the kind of report received that army advances on the city or gives it a wide berth.

"Worse than all is the army of spies that examine the city at intervals disguised as peddlers, men out of work, men sick and with large families to support, and so on. Every one of these beggars is a spy. He is sizing up the 'lay of the land,' looking to see who has dogs and who has not; whose husband is at home at night and who through the day, examining to see what houses are unoccupied and may be easy to burglarize, and so on.

"No housewife should open her door to any peddling stranger. Always have your screen door locked and do not open it for any stranger. The moment you see any suspicious character hanging about your doors or in any of the vacant lots at hand, call up the police and tell them. An officer will be on the spot without delay and investigate. This is for your own protection, and if persisted in will soon make Glendale free from the dangerous and persistent hobo.

"Let me give you an example: Today the police office was called up by a lady, who informed the department that a tramp was threatening a woman and her son with a revolver. Two officers—Patrolmen Arrington and Hollenbeck—with Fireman Keifer as driver of the auto, were at once dispatched to where the call came from. They found that an ill-conditioned tramp had been lying in the grass of a lot at Vine and San Fernando, and had chased the 13-year-old boy of Mrs. Josephine Ortega into a neighbor's house with a loaded revolver, threatening to shoot him and his mother because they had asked him what he wanted there. The phone call frightened the hobo, who took to his heels and got away before the officers reached the spot.

"That is an example of what will occur very frequently through the winter if measures are not taken to stop the influx of these undesirable in the beginning. There may be even more serious matters. Telephone the police at once when you see any such characters. Co-operate with the police department and you will have a safe and clean town this winter."

EMPLOYER PRINTERS

The employer printers of the United States are holding their annual convention at the Alexandria hotel, Los Angeles this week. Nearly all the largest cities in the United States have delegates present at this meeting who are participating in the discussions.

The statement was made by a New York delegate that the statistics of a recent year showed that the employer printers rank fourth in the United States in money invested and third in money paid out to employees.

Strong arguments were used in favor of determining all charges for work by the cost system.

cause the Pacific Avenue Parent-Teacher association purchased and paid for the supplies for that playground.

MUSIC IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Now that the Union High School is in full swing it may be well to call attention to the work being done by the senior orchestra. It is only within a very few years past that interest has been manifested in standards of musical education in public schools in the United States; yet within that comparatively short time there has been a wonderful development both in musical taste and musical practice in the schools.

Glendale Union High School is contemplating still further developments of the system that produced such good results last season. It is more than likely that a junior orchestra will be organized. That organization will serve as a feeder for the senior orchestra and will send to that body a number of units accustomed to ensemble work and trained in that greatest essential of all orchestral work—time.

How great a boon that development of the system will be to the children those who understand the value of music as a mental training will at once comprehend. There is no doubt that those who do not understand music lose a great deal of what is not only pleasant in life but of what also is an invaluable training and discipline of the mind. Just observe how that large band of young people watches the conductor's baton and how their instruments respond to the expression conveyed to them by that little instrument of authority. See how each part comes into its own place! Do you think that is easy? By no means. The very precision, smoothness and expression you note and hear have been attained only by long practice and sometimes by tedious repetition.

What is the result? Those children have a pleasant amusement for their homes. They light up the family circle. They get into a set of people who are occupied with matters of refinement, and they are also, if they so desire, acquiring an accomplishment that may be of large profit to them in future years. In every way they are profiting and incidentally they are adding to the pleasure of the school and to its reputation throughout the State.

It is just because of such accessories to the school curriculum as the senior orchestra, the auditorium and the senior plays that so large an addition has come to the numbers of the school this season. It will not be forgotten how carefully all that work was set forth in The Glendale Evening News last season. The accounts given of the school functions in this newspaper attracted wide attention to the high school. They showed the nature and quality of the work that was being done and advertised the school in a manner that was calculated to draw the notice of those who are looking for a safe and sane establishment of education to which to send their children.

It is well for the city and for its growing educational reputation that its educators realize the power that such extras as music, plays and orchestral music exert on the present growth of the schools and on the future of the youth who attend them, and also on the artistic future of the country.

When the high school possesses, as it does, in Mrs. Dora Gibson, a music supervisor who has a broadening vision of the needs of the youth under her direction; when she leads them to express their musical instincts and gives them opportunity to create as well as to analyse and interpret, the course of study is wonderfully brightened and widened. Such a school may ultimately lead to the vast enrichment of the musical life of the nation.

UNION VERSUS DISUNION

It would be trite to quote the many proverbs or to remind readers of the legion of stories that illustrate the advantages of union and the disadvantages of disunion. They are familiar to every lover of the commonplace and though vividly true are really truisms. One has only to take a look at the advantage Germany has in having one head and one authority. That head and authority have assumed dominion over Austria and her counsels; so that now the central allies move with one heart and one soul.

In the beginning it was not so. The Austrians had their own sweet will and went after the Russians with the foolhardiness of inexperience and the valor of ignorance. The result was that the Russians badly smashed them; took from them the whole of Galicia and came near to separating Hungary from the Austrian empire. Suddenly the kaiser entered on the field. Austria was taken under the protection and given the benefit of the counsel of the greatest military organization of the present day. In a moment the whole aspect of the war was changed. Russia was driven back in Galicia, step by step; the fortresses she had captured were recaptured—an almost unprecedented event in warfare—and mile by mile was wrested from her teeth and claws.

Immediately, too, began that course of diplomacy in the Balkans, that has apparently induced Bulgaria to throw in her lot with the central allies. At the same time the intrigues of Germany secured constant postponement of the decision of the neutrals regarding joining one side or the other. Delay bred discontent. There is evidence that Bulgaria has been engaged in a shrewd game of playing both sides against each other. There is evidence that Italy was held back from declaring herself till too late to do much good.

Italy is not at all anxious that Bulgaria should acquire Northern Albania. This has angered Bulgaria and it is not at all certain that she will not throw in her lot with the central allies—Austria and Germany. Serbia has been quite willing all along to agree to the plans of the British allies; but her acquiescence has been of little use without Italy's agreement. Serbia has been offered Bosnia and Herzegovina after the war is over and has signified her willingness to agree to that plan.

Meanwhile united Germany and Austria, moving under a common banner, acting with a common purpose have eternally smashed Russian resistance and are now turning their attention to the case of Serbia. Large masses of Germano-Austrian troops are on the Servian border and preparations are being made for a grand drive through to Constantinople. So much more effective is any union than any disunion.

The "never-fail" rule of curing the blues is to never worry about what you can or can not prevent.

The gift of good humor is never so strong but what it can be lost—the curse of sourness is never beyond remedy!

The latest discovery of science is that an automobile can not knock a railroad train off the track. Nearly every Sunday, in different parts of the country, folks try this experiment.

Ten billion dollars to be raised by taxes to pay for the war and to be in hand before the end of the year will prove a severe test of British patriotism as well as British financial solvency.

Bryan has been meditating a journey to Europe, where he hopes to talk peace to the warring nations. This trip was to be engineered by certain parties in the United States. Apparently President Wilson has taken a hand in the matter and asked Bryan to consider the impropriety of taking such a step at a time when important negotiations are going on between the United States and some of the belligerents. Bryan, however, is much better at giving than at taking advice.

It is said that the Russians are now praying earnestly for the rain to fall. Their memories of the havoc their climate wrought on Napoleon's troops in his unfortunate campaign, in the course of which he reached Moscow, encourage them to believe that there is a possibility of freeing out the Germans. Within a very short time the season of rains should be on in Poland. Then comes the roadless times, toward which the Russians confidently look for checking the advance of Von Hindenburg and his men. They say that the advance of Germany can mean nothing but the increase of so many trackless miles between the German firing line and their base. The Russians, however, seem to be overlooking the fact that the Germans who "lifted" a whole railroad out of Belgium and placed it in Poland already may repeat such a feat and get into Riga, and even Petrograd, while the czar and his moujiks are sleeping.

TROPICO

Learning that Miss Lila Webster leaves so shortly for her future home in Holtville, Imperial Valley, was the motive for a very delightful surprise party that was tendered Miss Webster Tuesday evening by Miss Ruth Ryan at the home of the latter's aunt, Miss Harriett Baggs, on Paloma avenue. Miss Ryan's guests included Mrs. Will Klee, teacher of the Sabbath school class of which Miss Webster is a scholar, in the First Presbyterian church of Tropic, and members of the class, and were Miss Lila Shea, Miss Eloise Seaman, Miss Jean Anderson, Miss Julia Milhoan, Miss Altha Adair, Miss Lucille Barnes and Miss Nettie Werle; Messrs. Jamie Shea, Arthur Gore, Seymour Smith, Everett Richardson and Delmar. The evening was rendered so delightful that Miss Webster will take with her to her new home many happy memories of the young hostess who was so graciously assisted by Miss Baggs, as well as of the merry and happy guests who were loath to bid Miss Lila good-bye.

After a delightful visit of several months as the guest of her granddaughter, Mrs. William Wieblitz of San Fernando boulevard, Mrs. Jane Cullins returned to her home in Goodland, Kansas.

Mrs. R. Hanna, wife of Judge Hanna of Tennessee, who is visiting relatives in Los Angeles and Tropic, is at present the guest of her sister, Mrs. Earl V. Coleman of Blanche avenue.

Joseph H. Webster of West Park avenue, who has been spending the past few months in Holtville, where he has accepted a position as bookkeeper in Varney Bros.' store, arrives home the latter part of the week. On Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Webster, with their two daughters, Misses Lila and Leola Webster, will leave in their machine for Holtville, where they will make their future home.

MONTGOMERY GETS GOOD NEWS

One of the most difficult demonstrations in the annals of motoring was pulled off in Long Beach the other day.

A thousand interested business men and citizens witnessed it.

They did not believe it could be done, and when the large crowd saw its successful conclusion they cheered to the echo the grit of the men who accomplished the seemingly impossible feat.

Think of an ordinary lightweight touring car roped to a four-ton truck, loaded with 20,000 pounds, and then imagine the power and stamina that car had when it pulled that tremendous load up the Pine avenue grade from the beach walk to Ocean Front avenue.

Have you ever seen a tug-of-war where every man was straining at the rope? If so you could not help straining within yourself, to favor one side or the other. Mentally you pulled and heaved with your favorite.

No wonder, then, that every man in the crowd pushed and heaved within himself in his unconscious effort to mentally help the Dodge motor accomplish its gigantic task.

Twice it tried, and twice the enormous load pulled it to a dead stop on the steep grade.

Did those confident men stop in their effort? No. The larger the crowd, the more determined they were that the car should make good.

The news of the attempt spread like wildfire, and when the car only made half way up at the first try at the hill hundreds yelled: "You can't make it—get a ten-mule team!" "Let the truck pull the car," etc.

Then the news spread again and the crowd doubled.

Once more the little car lugged at its giant load, and once again it slowly pulled itself to a standstill, but this time half way up the hill.

Then, the crowd, now grown to a thousand excited partisans of "Can't be done," "It's too much to expect," "They will pull the axle out," and other doubtful exclamations, heaved a sigh of wonder when the little car, humming a song of triumph, lugged that great load clear to the top and out on Pine avenue.

It was indeed some demonstration, not alone of pulling power, but of stamina, quality of material and a working union of parts, that any automobile maker can be proud of.

G. A. Montgomery, the Dodge Bros. motor car agent at Glendale, was a happy man that night when he heard what his car could do. It convinced him that O. K. Parker, the engineer of the H. L. Arnold organization, handling Dodge Bros. cars in Southern California, had not exaggerated the qualities of the car in making the daring trip across Death Valley, and when Parker drove the car up the Pine avenue grade, Montgomery felt that no further claims were necessary to convince every Glendale citizen as to what the Dodge Bros. cars could do.

THE LANGUAGE OF TYPE

Type lying in the cases has no significance or meaning, and it has no significance when making an impression on a printed page or sheet unless given that significance by its arrangement and the ideas expressed. It is the aim of the Glendale Evening News printery to so use type in advertisements and job printing that it will attract the eye of the reader in a favorable manner. For merely throwing type together counts for but little, and yet a few purchasers of printing will pay as much for the carelessly-thrown-together class of printing as they will for the class that conveys to the mind of the reader an intelligent meaning.

SWING OF STYLE PENDULUM

Commercial necessity is responsible for the launching of many of the new style ideas. Season by season the Paris blouse makers were producing more and more beautiful and elaborate hand-embroidered waists. Then the makers of machine-embroidered waists so perfected their machines that the embroidery was nearly as fine as hand work and the two could not be told apart when seen across the room, says the New York World. It was not possible to make waists any more elaborate, and so the pendulum swung back. Cheruit brought out waists without any decoration to relieve the plainness. Cheruit used sheer goods and laid one transparent fabric over another, achieving effects entirely by the combination of two materials in layers.

A pretty frock made in striped China blue and white chiffon, has a border of taffeta in the China blue. The little quaint bodice reminiscent of an old-time waistcoat is in taffeta or satin charmeuse; buckles of dark iridescent oyster shell; collar of finest lawn overstrewn in black, and a tiny touch of pale yellow introduced in dots.

PACKING HOUSE WORKER'S ACCIDENT

To be gored by dead steers' heads was the novel and painful misadventure befalling Peter Marpondorf, a packing house worker in Los Angeles. Marpondorf was working in a vat when suddenly a whole carload of freshly severed steers' heads was inadvertently dumped down upon him. The long horns inflicted severe wounds and gashes. He was taken to the hospital, where it was announced he would recover.

NORTH GLENDALE

The Heger apartments, located at 1227 North Brand boulevard, recently purchased by Wm. J. Heger and wife from Mr. Wm. G. Heger, is being put into fine condition, both interior and exterior. Mr. E. Bode of Glendale has secured the contract for the painting of it. Mr. Heger has also had a commodious double garage built on the property and the apartments will be known in the future as the Casa Blanca.

Mr. H. V. Dobbins has bought the Cushman property at 935 Fairview avenue for a home and, with his family, has moved in. Mr. Dobbins is making substantial improvements on the property and in the near future will have one of the prettiest places on that street.

Mr. Lewis Cadwallader of 1624 Ruth street has purchased a late model five-passenger Studebaker and his friends anticipate many delightful trips.

Mrs. Elliot C. Muller of 926 Fairview avenue is now at home after spending several days at Catalina Island, enjoying a much-needed rest while there.

Mrs. Eva Falster of Richmond, Cal., is one of the recent arrivals to North Glendale, who will remain here permanently, making her home with her daughter, Mrs. H. V. Dobbins of 935 Fairview avenue.

Mrs. L. Schneider of St. Louis, Mo., a recent newcomer to this community, has located for the winter in the Casa Blanca apartments, on North Brand boulevard.

Miss Mary Canaris, proprietress of the Central Avenue dry goods store, has been in Los Angeles during the past week looking up and purchasing a new stock of fall and winter goods. Miss Helen Dimick of 1000 North Central avenue entertained as her guests Miss Althea Park and Miss Mary Boone Park of Laurel Canyon, who came last Friday and remained here until Monday evening.

Friday evening, Sept. 24, there will be a farewell social at the Casa Verdugo Methodist Episcopal church in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Van Vleck Eddings, who leave shortly for Victoria, Venezuela, where they will resume missionary work. All their friends are invited.

BUSINESS AND SOCIAL MEETING

The Epworth league of the First M. E. church met at the church on Tuesday evening for a business and social session. A number of important matters of business were disposed of. Miss Edna Learned, president of the league, presided, while Miss Helena Schwarz, secretary, and Harry Francy, treasurer, performed their respective duties. After the business session the evening was given over to a social time. Sandwiches and chocolate were served under the direction of Mrs. Arrington and Mrs. Byers. All enjoyed a delightful evening.

CHANGE IN PLACE

The social which was announced to be held in the home of Miss Ethel Baker Friday evening at 8 o'clock will, on account of sickness in the Baker home, be held at the social home, at Palmer and Central, Tropic.

PERSONALS

Miss Flora Bates of Redlands, Cal., arrived in Glendale Tuesday on a visit to her sister, Mrs. W. D. McRae, 1436 Salem street.

Mrs. Cunningham, with her two children, arrived from Portland on Tuesday and has taken up her residence on Salem street.

Mrs. Ovington of Pomona, Cal., was a dinner guest Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Davis, 515 Orange Grove avenue.

Miss Carrie Valiant of 1554 West Colorado boulevard entertained Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Orif and daughter, Corinne, at dinner Sunday.

Dr. Ralph Lusby, a student at the College of Osteopathic Physicians and Surgeons, Los Angeles, has returned to resume his studies after a pleasant summer vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Weaver, 235 South Kenwood street, were guests at luncheon Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Hamilton, 2348 West Twenty-seventh street, Los Angeles.

John Blake Franklin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Blake Franklin, 1498 West Third street, who recently cut his foot severely while playing in a vacant lot near his home, is recovering nicely. The stitches have been taken out and there is evidence that he will soon be completely recovered.

Mrs. C. D. Lusby, 111 Cedar street, entertained her Sunday school class, the Junior Philathea, of the First Methodist church, at her residence Wednesday afternoon. After a business session a pleasant social time was enjoyed.

The Rev. John Troy of the First Baptist church, was the guest of Mr. Charles Francis of the Charles Francis Press, New York city, at the Typothetae banquet. Mr. Francis is a prominent figure in the world of capital and labor, having been successful in settling many serious strikes in New York city.

Miss Bessie Field of 239 South Kenwood street left Wednesday for New Mexico, where she will be a guest at Hook's ranch, 20 miles from Magdalena. Hook's ranch is a very large cattle establishment. It contains many thousands of acres and is one of the most notable ranches in the state. It stands at an elevation of 5000 feet. Miss Field, who has been suffering somewhat from the heat, expects to benefit largely by a two months' stay in this charming spot with old friends.

DEATH OF W. C. T. U. HEAD

Mrs. Lucy S. Blanchard, who has been president of the Southern California State W. C. T. U. for the past three years, passed from her earthly home to the heavenly land this morning at 11 o'clock. Mrs. Blanchard was much beloved by the organization and by many other friends who will mourn her untimely death. Arrangements for the funeral will be announced later.

MRS. RUBY J. SMART.

C. E. ENTERTAINMENT

Presbyterian young people! Mr. and Mrs. James Newton of Montrose will entertain the C. E. society, the Philathea, the members of Mrs. Campbell's class and the Baracas at their home Friday evening, Sept. 24. Take the Montrose car that leaves Brand boulevard at 6:55 p.m. From the car line there will be a jolly "hike" to the Newton residence, where the best time of the season will be awaiting the party.

GEORGE F. WARD

George F. Ward passed away on Wednesday, Sept. 22, at 12:15 p.m. at his home, 312 East Broadway, Glendale, at the age of 61 years and 4 days. Mr. Ward was a contractor and builder. He had lived in Glendale but a short time. The remains are at the Scovern-Letton-Frey parlors awaiting funeral arrangements. The remains will be shipped to his former home at Peterboro, Ontario, Canada.

FENCES OF FLOWERS

Open grounds without barriers between the neighbors' lawns are an American institution. Yet the most perfect velvety lawns of green, miss the intimate charm of privacy that appears when ornamental hedges or clumps of shrubbery are arranged to allow each home to develop its own character, says the Chicago Tribune.

Barberry, ligustrum or privet, buchtorn, spirea van Houttei or bridal wreath make handsome hedges. All are decorative shrubs, flowering handsomely, and none grow so tall that they obscure views.

The rugosa roses, and even the wild prairie rose, have been used to mark boundary lines. The rugosa roses blossom at intervals all season and the foliage is richly toned. The wild prairie rose, trimmed and cultivated, keeps its bronze green leaves, and, like the Japanese roses, produces an abundance of ornamental rose hips.

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair to night and Friday; northwesterly winds.

IS KAISER ANTICHRIST?

Lecturing to a considerable audience Wednesday night in the First Baptist church, the Rev. John H. Troy said:

Rev. J. H. Troy

"There have been many antichrists. Nebuchadnezzar thought to make his kingdom a universal and unending dominion. He exalted himself above God. He built a golden image, indicating his ambition to make the image of his dream all gold (Dan. 2), and upon the plain of Dura (circle meaning 'universal,' which is the meaning of Dura) stood the shining monument, the object of compulsory worship. The account of Nebuchadnezzar's image found in Dan. 3 incorporates all of the features of the coming Antichrist.

"Antiochus Epiphanes was an antichrist. Mohammed and the popes of Rome seem to partake of the spirit of Antichrist. But while there have been many antichrists, we still look for THE Antichrist. (1 John 2:18.)

"Scripture is replete with descriptions of the coming Antichrist. The following are some of his striking features: (1) He is to be a great organizer of the nations. Federation will be his keynote. (Dan. 2:43, 44; 7:23-28; Rev. 17:11-13.) (2) He will be the conqueror of three nations. (Dan. 7:25.) (3) He will pose as the friend of the Jews and later will violate his covenant with God's chosen people. (Dan. 8:13; 11:28-45; Rev. 11.) (4) He will be a great military power, a worshiper of fortresses. (Dan. 11:38.) (5) He will be an image builder. (Rev. 13:11-17.) (6) He will fight his last battle on the plain of Esdraelon in the holy land, his forces moving from the north southward. (Dan. 11:28-45.) (7) He will be destroyed by the revelation of Jesus Christ, followed by the armies in heaven. (Joel 3:9-21; Rev. 19.)

"Napoleon was thought by many to be the coming Antichrist. Undoubtedly he manifested many of the features of the coming monster. Books are now flooding the world bringing the startling announcement that the august emperor of Germany is about to develop into the real Antichrist. The careful student of prophecy will suspend judgment. The air is pregnant with the germs of Antichrist. Notable features of the coming beast appear in the daily press.

"While the Holy Spirit remains in the world, however, there cannot be the complete manifestation of the man of sin. (2 Thes. 2.) The environment must precede the personality. Antichrist does not make the age; the age makes Antichrist. Many are they who have sought to be Antichrist, and in their ambition to be the great 'IT' have developed remarkably the earmarks of the brute. The rulers of the earth today are no exceptions to the consummate ambition. God pity their poor dupes! The kaiser, with his magnificent organization, seems to be farthest along in the game.

"If any man is for captivity, into captivity he goeth; if any man shall kill with the sword, with the sword must he be killed. Here is the patience and the faith of the saints." (Rev. 13:10.)

"I am waiting for the dawning Of the bright and blessed day, When the darksome night of sorrow Shall have vanished far away, When forever with the Saviour, Far beyond this vale of tears, I shall swell the song of worship Through the everlasting years."

Lecture tonight at 8 o'clock. Subject: "Israel the Key to Prophecy." All welcome.

Good work can never receive too much praise from those who are benefited by it.

CITY SHADE TREES

That the largest shade tree in the United States, as brought to light by the prize contest held by the American Genetic Association, should turn out to be the eastern sycamore is not surprising, says government foresters. The sycamore has long been regarded as the largest deciduous tree in North America and its range of growth is hardly second to that of any other broad-leaf tree; for it can be found from Maine to Florida, and as far west as Kansas.

The bestowal of the prize on a sycamore at Worthington, Indiana, which is 42 feet 3 inches in circumference and 150 feet tall, draws attention to the fact that foresters are nowadays recommending the species especially for city planting. They say that long experience with sycamores planted in city streets has shown that the species is peculiarly able to withstand the smoke, dust and gases which are usually an unavoidable complement of urban life. In addition, the sycamore is as resistant to attacks of insects and fungi as almost any species, and is a quick grower; at ten years of age, a healthy sycamore usually is already large enough for shade as well as for decorative purposes. As for the latter, there is hardly any eastern species which is generally held so picturesque as the sycamore. With its strikingly mottled bark and magnificent stature and conformation, the sycamore has a marked individuality and can not be mistaken for any other species, either in the summer when the foliage conceals its structure form, or in the winter when the leaves are absent.

A common objection to the sycamore as a lawn tree is its habit of dropping its leaves before autumn. From this characteristic it is sometimes called a "dirty tree." Recently the forest service received a letter from a suburban resident who has a sycamore tree on his lawn. "My sycamore tree is very beautiful," said the writer, "until about the first of August, when its leaves begin to fall. Is there any remedy that I can apply to the tree to keep it from dropping its leaves so soon?" It was necessary to tell the correspondent that this was a characteristic habit of the tree. This drawback, however, is practically the only failing that the sycamore has, and it is offset by many desirable qualities.

On the other hand, there is little prospect of popularity, foresters say, for the valley oak of California, which was decided to be the largest nut-bearing tree in the United States, the contest unearthing a specimen in San Benito county, which is 37 feet 8 inches in circumference and 125 feet high. The valley oak is a very beautiful tree, but it attains maturity only after three or four hundred years; its wood is too tough, knotty and otherwise imperfect to be good for lumber; the tree grows too slowly to be planted for shade or decorative purposes, and, being found only in California, it would have a small field of usefulness. Horticulturists say that the valley oak is not popularly considered a nut-bearing tree; for its acorns are not generally used for food, although, of course, they are edible. Foresters say that the chestnut and the black walnut are the largest nut-bearing trees in this country, and the contest did, in fact, unearth a chestnut near Crestmont, North Carolina, which is 33 feet 4 inches in circumference and about 75 feet tall.

The contest brought forth photographs and authentic descriptions of 337 trees in all parts of the United States, making a distinctly valuable contribution to existing knowledge of native trees. It was found that, in all probability there is no living elm larger than "The Great Elm" at Wethersfield, Connecticut, which is 28 feet in circumference and about 100 feet tall, and is estimated to be 250 years old. Many remarkable specimens of species which ordinarily attain only small sizes were unearthed by the contest, furnishing new records of maximum growth. A sassafras was brought to light at Horsham, Pennsylvania, which is 15 feet 10 inches in circumference at four feet from the ground, whereas, for example, not long before this a Georgia town claimed that it had the largest sassafras tree in the world, though this tree was only something over 7 feet in circumference. A white birch was found in Massachusetts with a girth of 12 feet 2 inches; a pecan was found in Louisiana with a circumference of 19 feet 6 inches, and a catalpa in Arkansas with a girth of 16 feet. The tallest tree found is a yellow poplar in North Carolina, which is 198 feet high and has a circumference of 34 feet 6 inches.

PREACHER VERSUS PREACHER

Rev. E. H. Willisford, pastor of the First Congregational church, Third and Central, will discuss the recent statement made by Dr. Samuel Garvin that "ministers should not call on married women in the absence of their husbands." This will be a prelude to the evening sermon.

This statement by Dr. Garvin has caused quite a stir among the clergy of Los Angeles and vicinity. This minister is a Presbyterian pastor in Colorado Springs, Colorado, and has just received a call to the Presbyterian church of Highland Park. Hearing of the statement by Dr. Garvin a layman asks the question "I wonder what kind of an experience this minister has had?"

Readers of the News no doubt will be interested to know what are Dr. Willisford's views on this question.

HARVEST SUPPER

The ladies of the Presbyterian church, Tropic, will give a harvest supper at the church Friday evening, Sept. 24, from 6 to 8:30 o'clock.

SHAKESPEARE CLUB

At the regular meeting of the Glendale Shakespeare club Wednesday morning at the home of the president, Mrs. Coral Harrison Sloan, the studio was comfortably filled with some of the brightest women in Glendale who listened with rare pleasure and profit to the reading of the play of Macbeth Act 1, scenes 1, 2, 3, 4, 5. Mrs. Sloan's reading was followed by a most excellent paper prepared and read by Mrs. A. B. Chappel on the work of Savio Grammaticus. At the next meeting, September 29, the study of Macbeth will be continued. These splendid meetings are absolutely free and are open to all women.

Mrs. Sloan gladly gives these two hours from 10 to 12 a. m. every Wednesday out of her busy week to help foster a love of Shakespeare in our community.

Dr. Eaton of the University of Wisconsin recently said: "There are about three real teachers of Shakespeare in the United States. Mrs. Sloan is one of them."

SUNLAND AND LITTLELANDS

Rev. W. H. Wieman spent the week end at Highland Park, Los Angeles. His whole family were at home for the first time in a long while. The family is a large one and in the ordinary course of events separation is inevitable. Hitherto while not altogether under the parental roof they have all been residents of California. This year one son goes to Ann Arbor, Mich., to finish his college career and this fact makes a different break in the family association. The reunion was a great pleasure and privilege to all concerned. Mr. Wieman returned this week to Littlelands where the family eventually expect to make their home.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Hubbard are enjoying their visit with their children and friends in Mitchell, South Dakota. They report the weather as fine at present.

Did you see that beautiful green spot on the Rowley ranch near Sunland? That's alfalfa, and it is owned by Mr. A. H. Martin. Get up at sunrise some clear morning and gaze up there and see the golden sprays of water dropping their golden beads. It is a grand sight and worth your while sacrificing an hour's sleep.

Mrs. J. T. Ward of San Isidro road transacted business in Los Angeles on Monday of this week.

Miss Anna O. Peck, landscape artist of Monte Vista boulevard, returned last week from a two weeks' visit to the San Diego exposition. She gives a detailed account of the expense of the entire trip, exclusive of meals, which may be of value to some contemplating such a trip but who are deterred therefrom because of the supposed great expense. Of course one may make the cost of the trip as great as they can afford but too, one may get through on a very moderate sum. The cost of fare from Littlelands going by boat from Los Angeles to San Diego; a number of side trips to places near San Diego, together with the cost of room rent for two weeks and the cost of five days at the exposition amounted to the modest sum of $17.55. Miss Peck had an extra large furnished room with gas stove for $3.50 per week. The room was close to the exposition and in an excellent locality, and good meals close by could be had for very little. Some furnished rooms with south or east fronts could be secured for from 35 cents per day and up and from $2 to $45 per week. Some cottage apartments 75 cents to $1 per day for family. Besides the exposition Miss Peck visited Coronado Island, Point Loma, where she met Miss Edith White, an artist and an old friend and where she was entertained by Mr. Fussell; Chura Vista, where she dined with friends; La Jolla, Mission Gardens, Bird Rock, Othay, Grossmont and Mission canyon. By taking the trolley and using transfers some of these trips were made for 20 cents, when if Miss Peck had gone by auto it would have cost from $1 to $2. She thinks it a wise plan to spend the first day in looking up the different points of interest and the means for reaching them and securing all the information possible before starting out. Altogether Miss Peck had a very profitable and enjoyable if not expensive trip.

Willie—Paw, why is it that the office does not seek the man?

Paw—Because somebody is always holding it, my son.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

There are either some excellent crops or some excellent liars throughout the Northwest. Among the recent things Northwest newspaper correspondents have reported are:

EAGLEROCK

The tent meetings which have been held for two weeks on Fairmont and Colorado, closed Monday night with a strong temperance lecture delivered by the evangelist, George W. Taylor. A good crowd was out to hear him and felt well paid for coming although the attendance other evenings has not been satisfactory. Those who have been attending the meetings regularly have been greatly benefited and helped each evening. While in this city Mr. and Mrs. Taylor have made many friends.

Last Monday night the large two-story house on Eagle and Adams avenue burned to the ground. The flames were discovered by neighbors living across the street and soon a large crowd gathered. The fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to save the house. The place was owned by Mrs. Brayton of Los Angeles and it had been vacated the day before the fire.

Rally Day will be observed this Sunday by the children of the Congregational Sunday school and the children with the aid of their teachers will give an interesting program.

This Sunday the Methodists will be back in the church for the usual Sunday services, after holding all their meetings in the tent. This is good news to all as the new piano is in the church and will be used for the first time by the choir, who purchased and placed it there. This Sunday several will be taken into the church by letter and on probation.

Word was received that A. A. House who is at the Hollywood Sanitarium for a rest and treatment is improving greatly.

Mr. Truman has begun the erection of his bungalow on Ellenwood drive.

PASSING OF THE SUMMER GIRL

(A September Idyl)
The twilight earlier coming on,
And the chilly evenings tell
That the fleeting summer will soon be gone,
And the Summer Girl as well.
The hotelkeeper wears a long face,
And carries a heavy heart;
He feels how lonely will be the place
When summer and girl depart.

For the boniface alive is he
To sublimity things;
He scents the dawn of prosperity
When the swaying hammock swings.
When she appears, right well he knows
Things take on a lively whirl;
Board, boats, and beaux, and tally-
hos
Come on with the Summer Girl.

Bewailing his fate, the Summer Man
Feels his plans were poorly shaped.
He has lingered since the season began,
And yet she has escaped.
Gone, and no more her face he'll see,
Except as in a dream.
(He'll not forget her capacity
For sweetmeats and ice cream).

Yet, what would a summer season be Without the Summer Girl?
Beware—if he loves her not, then he
Is a selfish petulant churl.
She dashes a bit of color in
To the all-pervading green,
And summer beauties never begin
Till the butterflies are seen.

Out there awaiting the city train
Are her trunks and telescope.
He strives composure to maintain,
As he braces up his hope;
That she will say a sweet good-bye,
As she marches down the hall;
And with the language of the eye,
Suggest an early call.

She's gone, but longer he must stay;
And he stalks around alone,
Listens to what the wavelets say
As they murmur "she is gone;"
He gazes intently on the place,
(Now wrapped in a passing storm.)
Where the surf has held in close embrace
That loved—now absent form.

Out yonder, beneath the maple shade,
The hammock no longer swings;
The birds are silent and the maid
no longer loves ditty sings.
In "lovers glen" up the hillside there
The breezes no longer flirt
With the unbound locks of her nutbrown hair,
Or the folds of her muslin skirt.

He's got it bad—they'll meet again
On that you may reckon now—
The brief but pleasant summer reign,
Of rounds up with a vow;
And e'er the Merry Christmas tide,
Comes in with a joyous whirl
The parson will have made a bride,
Of the flirting summer girl.

GLENDALE, CAL.

evening at the home of Miss Ernestine Kinney of Occidental Park. Various games and music took up the evening after which dainty refreshments were served.

Mr. F. Wilson and family who have resided in this city on Highland avenue for about a year and a half moved to Los Angeles Monday. Mrs. Wilson has been in a hospital for some time and the family thought it best to be in Los Angeles where she can be near the doctor's care when she is removed to her home.

BURBANK

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Blanchard and son Judson and Rev. Paul Stevens returned Saturday evening from a five days' visit at San Diego.

The first meeting of the Burbank Women's club was held at the home of Mrs. Harry Cline on Tuesday afternoon of this week.

On October 26 will occur an election on constitutional amendments. The polling place will be the City Hall of Burbank. All voters should register at once.

The engagement of Rev. Henry A. Rudin, pastor of the Burbank Presbyterian church and Miss Gertrude Claire Woodill of Halifax, Canada, has recently been announced. Miss Woodill has left her Canadian home for Burbank and the wedding will occur in early October. Rev. and Mrs. Rudin will occupy the home being built by Richard Hill on Olive avenue near Fourth street.

Mrs. E. B. Lindesmith returned this week from San Diego where she had been visiting friends for a few days.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lucas of Hansen Heights, a daughter which arrived on Thursday morning, September 16.

O. Myers has just had a large barn erected on his ranch on West Verdugo avenue. P. A. Farley is the contractor.

The Biggar tract still continues to furnish its quota of improvements and changes. C. W. Siveter is preparing to erect a new residence on his property. Mr. and Mrs. Sarapin Pla are also nicely located in the pretty home on the west part of the tract.

The Ladies' Aid society of the Christian church met with Mrs. Davenport on Angelino street in an all-day session on Thursday of this week.

Mr. J. S. Gilkey of Corcoran, Cal. is visiting at the home of Mrs. I. G. Glenn.

CITY TRUSTEES MEET

The board of trustees of the city of Burbank held their weekly meeting at the Burbank city hall on Tuesday afternoon of this week, the meeting being one of the most important held for a number of weeks. Trustees Blanchard, Kline and Craig answered to the roll call, while Hogle and Forbes were absent. Attorney Walkins and F. Kirk Miller manager of the light and water departments, were both present.

A resolution was adopted which makes a decided cut in the water rate. The minimum flat rate for the ordinary user has been $1.50. This has been cut to $1.25. A sliding scale of about the same proportionate reduction has been adopted for ranch and irrigation purposes.

A resolution was also adopted to enforce the weed ordinance. Property owners with noxious or dangerous weeds growing on their premises are warned that same constitute a public nuisance which must be abated by the removal of same; otherwise they will be removed and the nuisance abated by the municipal authorities in which case the cost of such removal shall be assessed upon the lots and lands from which or in front of which such weeds are removed, and such cost will constitute a lien upon such lots until same is paid.

The following demands were allowed:

General Fund
Home Telephone Co.	$5.25
Ida M. Lawrence	36.50
J. D. Hale	1.90

Water Fund
Pacific Telephone and Tele. Co.	$5.50
Lighting Department Fund
Pacific Light and Power Corporation	$360.84

Burbank Again Victorious

The play Saturday between Burbank and Boynton as it was staged, appeared to aim at leaving the impression that the home team were heroes and the visitors only scenery.

Boynton was thoroughly blanked, while owing to the free hitting, we chanced to secure six runs. As a game nothing was pulled off that hasn't been seen many times since 1776.

The game ran along nine innings without anyone getting rude or even excited.

The most glaring mistakes noticed, if we may be permitted to call them such, were those where a runner would not gauge his distance from the sack closely enough and get tagged out flat-footed.

Everybody took a crack at the ball and about 18 men got to stop at least one, so they were all happy. Now and then a fast one would start for Jones on second that he had to run like blazes to get away from, and Nergard let a fat one hop over his head some two to five feet. Aside from this Boynton kept the gettable ones closely smothered.

CUSHION RUFFLES

Ruffles, which have so long been eliminated as a finish for pillow covers, are again being used, especially for those made of the gayly-patterned, printed stuffs, such as cretonnes and chintz, says a Detroit Free Press contributor. The ruffles, so far, are generally confined to the round-shaped pillows, which are in favor at present.

The ruffle should not be more than two inches wide and the material is usually folded double and either pleated or gathered. If the material is cotton of a rather stiff quality, a plaited ruffle would be smart, but if the fabric is of thin silk, in one of the futurist patterns, a gathered ruffle, which when folded double would look not unlike a puff around it, would be most effective.

The Herald of Better Service

IN the arena of "Big Business" has appeared a new steel-brained champion, the Master-Model of the Royal—the machine with the rapid-fire action; the typewriter that fires letters as an automatic gun spits bullets!

Unless you are "Royalized," you are paying the price of the Royal without knowing it—besides that of your old-style machine—in the higher cost of your business letters.

Built for "Big Business" and its Great Army of Expert Operators

This master-machine does the work of several typewriters in one—it writes, types cards and bills! The one machine does it all—without any "special" attachments.

Get the Facts!

Send for the "Royal man" and ask for a DEMONSTRATION. Investigate the new machine that takes the "grind" out of type-writing. Or write us direct for our new brochure, "BETTER SERVICE," and book of facts on Touch Typing—with a handsome Color-Photograph of the new Royal Master-Model 10, sent free to typewriter users. "Write now—right now!"
